TCI President Bill Nass To Discuss Cloud-based Loan Origination Innovations at Marketplace Cloud Lending Summit TCI Will Also Showcase The Flexibility and Capabilities of Its DecisionLender 4 Cloud-based Loan Origination Platform

Islandia, NY, January 12, 2017 – Teledata Communications Inc. (TCI) (www.tccredit.com), a provider of cloud-based loan origination solutions for credit unions, banks and finance companies, announced that Bill Nass, the company’s co-founder and president, will participate in a panel session on recent lending innovations at the Marketplace Cloud Lending Summit. The event is scheduled for January 19-20 at the Aria Hotel in Las Vegas. The session, “Loan Origination, Servicing and Collection Solutions for Cloud-based Market Lenders,” is set for 3:30 pm on January 19.

In addition to the panel session, TCI will offer demonstrations of its DecisionLender 4 loan origination system throughout the Summit. A cloud-based platform, DecisionLender 4 offers online and brick-and-mortar lenders unsurpassed flexibility and configurability to simplify and accelerate the entire loan origination process. Through DecisionLender 4, lenders can create their own workflow without the need for IT resources. Among these capabilities include creating and adjusting decisioning rules and parameters, authenticating and verifying applicants, managing documentation and eSignature, as well as populating and completing reports to meet compliancy requirements. Through this platform, lenders can quickly adjust their lending programs by market and geography to take advantage of fast-moving opportunities—all while reducing operating costs.

“Increasing marketshare and improving efficiency through cloud-based technologies is essential for online and traditional lenders,” explained Nass. “We’re eager to participate at the Marketplace Lending Summit and discuss the successes we’ve seen, offer practical advice, and demonstrate our solutions for those attendees looking to enhance their loan origination processes.”
